The amount originally asked for this item was $23,58,000, but this will have to be increased to $1,000,000 on account of the passage of the eight-hour law since the estimate was made, and to provide for certain sewars not included in original plan. Congress has suppropriated $250,000 to cover three years work, but at that rate Capt. Derby estimates that it will require fitry years to complete the system.

As to street lighting he says the service has hen about the sum as heretofere. He also refers to the difficulty of adequately lighting the streets on account of the prevalence of shade trees. He recommends the placing of lamposts in the center of the street, in cases where letter service can be thus obtained. Capt. Eighth Annual Convention of the Agricultural College Association in Session Here.

The growth and work of the scores of agriultural colleges and experiment stations in the United States were discussed yesterday at the initial session of the eighth annual convention of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations in this city.

Vice President G. E. Morrow, of Champuign, Ill., presided, in the absence of Gen. Stephen D. Lee, of Mississipp, the president, Various reports of efficers and committees were read, showing the condition of the work. The report of the executive committees outlined the military scope of the agricultural institutions. It surgested a conference on military matters between the Secretary of War and the association, and intimated a discrimination on the part of the War Department against land-grant colleges.

It was shown that the association was free from debt. The committee recommended that agitation of the plan of having the War Department supply uniforms and camp equipage to land-grant colleges be suspended, beyond moral support of officials favoring the project. Early aution on the part of the Secretary of the Interior looking toward closer relations between the Bureau of Education and land-grant colleges was anticipated.

At the evening assession the annual address of the president of the secondary was delivered.
